

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Why won't you let people do what they want with their money instead of flooding such a young and exiting technology with complex rules and regulations that are bound to favor the more established entities instead of promoting innovation by the smaller groups with less resources?

This is just found to create regulatory capture by the big money and close of the market to everyone else.

It's a good plan to drive all innovation somewhere else. Maybe that's the plan.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]