Superintendent Lawsky and General Counsel Syracuse,

From what I've been able to find out about the proposed BitLicense the following is true:

"Companies that obtain a BitLicense could be forced to collect identifying data on account holders and end users including full name and physical address. This information will be kept on file for 10 years in case the government seeks it."

Isn't that just wonderful? With all the spying, with all the massive data mining going on we now by government and other entities are now told we must put up with more of it because the state of New York wants to play too.

No thank you. No thank you. No thank you.

Truly,
Martin Hoade
