Stifling innovation, after global banking crisis, even with "regulation".
Expect us to get ourselves out of a global poverty that the global banking system created?
here is an innovative way forward, not a bank you can trust, but a system that cannot be exploited by a couple of powerful people....that is unless you add a privacy data greedy government.
, You are killing what could be a way out of the poverty and have allowed respectable people to get away with that has and is causing mass global suffering.
What about all those innocent families with not a dime?
It shouldn't be the 99% addresses and records your looking at, to predict social movements or make examples of people.
So that we may live in a controlled freedom, it should be the powerful, so you can second guess the next crisis.
Bitcoin is good for the economy made up of the people you care about and protect. No one makes money off an ordinary simple transaction with bitcoin.
Please don't end the little glimmer of genuine financial hope for a future disappear with more of your greed and control freakery.
